

Kim The Happy Medium

Kim Russo, also known as “Kim The Happy Medium,” has been able to see the world of spirit since the young age of nine. Growing up, Kim often saw random spirits in her bedroom and sometimes felt their presence walking home with her from school. Not knowing what they wanted, they scared her then. Now she is comforted by their presence, speaking to them more than she speaks to the living on some days.

Kim is as comfortable with her mediumship as anyone with any special talent could be. Kim explains her ability to understand the voice of spirit as nothing more than being fluent in their language. As Kim often describes, “They do not move their lips when they speak to me; as they relay their messages to me mind to mind, or by certain gestures they allow me to see.” Sometimes referring to herself as a translator for the spirit world, Kim also calls herself the psychic journalist, as she prides herself on accuracy in understanding their language, and is most careful to “interview” the spirit coming through during a reading.

In her compassion as a medium, Kim wants the sitter to have absolutely no doubts that they are communicating with their loved ones. It is Kim’s usual practice to give many identifying details, including names and descriptions of the energy with which she is communicating. Many of her clients have reported having life changing experiences after having a session with Kim.

Kim says, “It’s my pleasure and blessing to be the voice for the spirit world. This work that I do brings amazing peace and closure to many people.” To be read by Kim, or to attend one of her seminars, is truly to be in the presence of something rare and astounding and peacefully wondrous.

Kim has recently appeared on A & E’s hit show, Paranormal State, and has been featured in Nick Bunick’s Book, Transitions of the Soul. Kim can be reached at (516) 486-6158 for further information on her workshops and seminars.